Mega stimulus package

Self-reliance pitch timely, now for delivery Anew slogan, ‘Be vocal about local’, has been added by the Prime Minister to his long list of aspirational-inspirational repertoire. How far it goes in infusing the much-required dynamism in the Covid-hit business and industry is the big question.

The Guardian view on the UK economy: deep depression and a huge bill ahead | Editorial

To grasp how low are the expectations for the economy, consider this: on Wednesday it was announced that the UK's national output had just had its biggest drop since the great crash of 2008 - and the immediate response of many analysts was surprise that it hadn't fallen further.

Stimulus sets the ground for structural reforms

Stimulus sets the ground for structural reforms

If science progresses funeral by funeral, economies emerge stronger crisis after crisis. The government's Atmanirbhar Bharat, or a self-reliant India, is an effort in this direction. If the 1991 financial crisis triggered first generation reforms, the economic package announced by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday appears to have set the ground for structural reforms nearly three decades later, prompted largely by the Covid-19-pandemic-turned-global-economic-crisis.

Spurring credit flows central to first tranche of stimulus package

As even the unconventional liquidity steps taken by the RBI over the past few weeks haven't de-clogged the credit pipeline much, the government is seeking to use a good part of its extra fiscal firepower gathered via a strenuous debt route to ease the flow of liquidity across the key economic agents.
